[The authors] hope you find this book to be special in its approach to adjustment and well-being. You will discover some underlying philosophies in [their] discussion of adjustment. [They] believe human beings have the capacity to change, to adapt, and to effectively cope with stressful circumstances in their lives. [They] believe that knowledge, understanding, awareness and insight are significant factors in adjustment. [They] believe that adjustment takes effort, work, monitoring and persistence.... Culture, ethnicity and gender are important contexts of adjustment. -Pref.

Personality Theories: A Global View by leading scholar Eric Shiraev takes a dynamic, integrated, and cross-cultural approach to the study of personality. The text is organized around three general questions: Where did personality theories come from? How did the theorists study facts? How do we apply personality theories now? These questions provide a consistent focus on social context, interdisciplinary science, and applications. Going beyond traditional research from the Western tradition, the book also covers theories and studies rooted in the experiences of other countries and cultures.

As a master teacher, John Santrock connects current research with real-world application, helping students see how developmental psychology plays a role in their own lives and future careers. Through an integrated learning goals system, this comprehensive and chronological approach to lifespan development helps students gain the insight they need to study smarter, stay focused, and improve performance.
